WORLD'S FAIR

VOL. 1, NO. 2 . JULY 10, 1962

1964-1965

Exciting Variety In International Exhibits Many renderings of Pavilions Received

Architectural renderings of pavilions leave better informed and one of the means available to accomplish this is to

The Fair plays host today to 1,500 members of the National Association of tion on a special train this afternoon.

NATION'S COUNTY OFFICIALS VISIT FAIR

County Officials who are arriving at the Long Island Rail Road World's Fair sta-The Fair guests are in New York to attend the County Home Rule Congress of the N.A.C.O. at the Statler Hilton Hotel, where the 27th Annual Conference is in session. Host to the Conference is the County Officers Association of New York. The County Officials will visit the Model Room, then proceed to a tent adjoining the Administration Building where they will be greeted by Fair president Robert Moses. After brief talks by Fair executives, a cocktail party and reception will be tendered in honor of the distinguished visitors the musical background.

with a Meyer Davis orchestra providing Leading the party of County Officials will be David Bird, president of the Association, and Judge C. Beverly Briley, the incoming president.

viewed the World's Fair progress film. In cooperation with the Telad Corporation, the N.A.C.O. delegates viewed the film over closed circuit television in their rooms at the Statler Hilton. Featured at the Annual Conference of the N.A.C.O. is the Products and Progress

Prior to their visit to the Fair, the group

Exhibit on the Mezzanine of the Statler Hilton. The Conference and Exhibit will conclude on the evening of July 11. 651 DAYS TO

OPENING DAY

© 1962 - New York World's Fair 1964-1965 Corporation

Flushing 52, N. Y.

ROBERT MOSES, President

contemplated for the Fair's International Area indicate that the excitement, color and glamor of a trip around the world are in store for visitors to the exposition. In commenting on the concepts, which represent neither a single style nor geographic area, former Governor Charles Poletti, vice president for International Affairs and Exhibits, stated: These pavilions will express the best of each country, of their heritage and culture, and their hopes for the future. We desire that visitors to the Fair will learn how other peoples live."

Architects of Latin America, Asia, Africa, Europe and the United States are contributing their imagination and skills to these designs. Among them are: Mohamed Zaki Elhag, Binich Sampatisiri, Oswald Chase, Pedro Ramirez Vazquez, Rafael Mijares, Abel Sorensen, Alphonse de Rijdt, Eldredge Snyder, Edward Durell Stone and Yang Chao Chen. These men will project a national image through the delicate tracery of an oriental

(continued on next page)

GROUND IS BROKEN FOR EXHIBIT OF

TRAVELERS INSURANCE COMPANIES

(continued from page 1) roof or baroque facade, a European hotel de ville, a mud thatched house, or the gleaming stone of a marble mosque. There will be oriental gardens, cobblestone paths and tropical plantings. The U.S.S.R. has selected an architect from a competition which lasted several months. Such competitions are still in progress in other countries. The renderings of other pavilions are expected in the near future. .

Tel: WF 4-1964 Code-212

site, adjacent to the Pool of Industry, on with the Fair's opening, joined Robert Wednesday, June 27. The event marked Moses, Fair president, in the traditional the fourth groundbreaking of a major shovel-wielding and in an "umbrella raisexhibitor in recent weeks, as Gas, Inc., General Motors and The Bell Telephone System had already started basic construction activity during May and early June.

The Travelers Insurance Companies

held colorful ceremonies to commemorate the groundbreaking of their Fair exhibit ing" ceremony, which lent a novel touch to the event. A giant red umbrella, measuring 21 feet in diameter and reputed to be the largest umbrella ever made, was raised at the Travelers' exhibit site to illustrate the Companies' corporate symbol. The World's Fair of 1964 will be a showcase of freedom," Mr. DeWitt said at the ceremonies, "and an inspiring symbol of the accomplishments of a free society. We are proud to be a part of the vision which is creating this great World's Fair. With the breaking of ground here today, we dedicate ourselves not to celebration of our past but to our will and determination to meet the responsibilities of the future."

J. Doyle DeWitt, president of the country's largest all-line insurance company which celebrates its centennial coincident

Referring to the theme of his own company's exhibit, the Travelers chief executive drew a parallel between it and the Fair. "We feel that our story, which is nothing less than man's developing capacity to triumph over the hazards of living. has a depth and significance completely appropriate to the Fair's great theme of man's achievements on a shrinking globe in an expanding universe." Mr. DeWitt told newsmen, after the groundbreaking ceremonies, that Travelers plans to promote the Fair in all sections of the United States and Canada through its travel, by demonstrating how great carriers have brought the most distant places within reach, and by dramatizing the importance of present techniques and future possibilities for moving goods, the Transportation

21,000 salaried employees and 50,000

agents and representatives. • tation & Travel Pavilion were signed late by cables from 120-foot pylons. It will in June by Robert O. Thatcher, president house 130,000 square feet of exhibit space of the Pavilion's sponsoring organization, and will be the only industry-wide, multi-#### director, Port of New York Authority. & Travel Pavilion will make an important tion Section. Mr. Thatcher announced that construc-On the occasion of the construction ancontribution to the over-all purpose of the tion of the Pavilion, which will be one of nouncement, Fair president Robert Moses tenant pavilion in the Fair's Transporta-with all its above-ground floors suspended the largest buildings erected at the Fair, will begin October 2nd. Fronting on the Grand Central Parkway across from the permanent New York City Building, the three-story structure will be 80 feet high, 384 feet long and 182 feet wide. It will be the first "suspension building" ever erected

Final lease agreements for the Transpor-and Matthias E. Lukens, deputy executive

FIVE MORE EXHIBITORS MOVE FORWARD IN FEDERAL & STATES AREA In recent weeks there has been greatly

This structure will be one of the focal points of the Fair. The theme of the exposition is 'Peace through Understanding,' and travel and trade are most effective means for achieving understanding. By stimulating over 70 million visitors to

Leslie Levi, president of Ivel Construction

Corp., and Reino Aarnio, architect.

During the last week of June, the Advisory Arbor and Garden Committee of the New Jersey Tercentenary Commission visited the Fair grounds to get a firsthand view of the planting on the site of the New

Bill Hardman, manager of the Tourist

Division of the Georgia Department of Other multiple exhibitor pavilions expected to follow the lead of Transportation & Travel within the next few months are the Hall of Education, World of Food, House of Good Taste, Graphic Arts, American Interiors and Better Living. •

OLYMPIC TRIALS

NEW YORK IN 1964

AWARDED TO

announced as intending to exhibit, California, Alabama, Virginia, Michigan and the Virgin Islands all are now actively studying the question of participation. The State of California, through its

Economic Development Agency and Stan-increased activity among prospective participants in the States Area of the Fair.

In addition to the thirty states already ford Research Institute, is canvassing industrial leaders of the state to determine the scope of its proposed exhibit. Information packets, including World's Fair literature, have been distributed to over 200 California firms. The funds for this study were appropriated by the California legislature. An Alabama World's Fair Commission has been formed with Mr. W. I. Bowman as chairman. Mr. Bowman met with Fair representatives in Montgomery, Alabama, on June 28th to discuss Fair plans. A new Virginia Advisory Board on Industrial Development and Planning has been formed under the chairmanship of Harry F. Byrd, Jr. This Board is currently considering a World's Fair exhibit and has tentatively reserved a 35,000 square foot site. On June 28th, the legislature of the State of Michigan passed a resolution establishing a joint interim legislative committee to study the feasibility of Michigan's participation in the New York

World's Fair. This ten-member committee is expected to visit the Fair in the near future to discuss plans for the Michigan General William E. Potter, executive vice president of the Fair, met with Commissioner of Commerce Henry L. Kimelman, and with the Economic Board of the Virgin Islands, in St. Thomas on July 9th to discuss further details regarding an exhibit. A lot near the Puerto Rico Exhibit site has been tentatively reserved. Ivel

Construction Corporation has been retained by the Virgin Islands to develop a concept and preliminary plan for the proposed pavilion. State officials visit Fair The Fair was honored on June 27th by a visit from Lieutenant Governor of Hawaii, James K. Kealoha, chairman of the Hawaii World's Fair Commission. He came to New York to discuss details concerning the State's Lake Area pavilion. He was accompanied to the Fair by Kei Yomato, president of Orchids of Hawaii, Commerce stopped at the Fair recently and described progress on the plans for the Georgia Pavilion. The exhibit is being designed by Gregson & Associates of Atlanta, Georgia. •

Jersey Exhibit.

liam P. Hunt, chairman of the board, Security-Columbian Banknote Company, New York City; Miss Dorothy Liebes, Dorothy Liebes Textiles, Inc., New York

At the same time, seven additional members were added to the roster of the Fair's board of directors. They are:

Patrick J. Frawley, Jr., president of Technicolor, Inc., Culver City, California; Wil-

City; George L. Murphy, vice president of Technicolor Corp. and former president of the Screen Actors Guild, Hollywood,

California; Jarvis J. Slade, New York Securities Company, New York City; Benjamin H. Swig, chairman of the board,

Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco, California;

Ezra K. Zilkha, president of Zilkha & Sons, Inc., New York City. .

Fair president Robert Moses announced on June 20 that the City of New York and the New York 1964-1965 World's Fair will be joint hosts to the official U. S.

City and Fair to be Joint Hosts

Mayor Robert F. Wagner and World's be held in Tokyo, Japan, in the fall of that The trials in the spring and summer of 1964 will involve 17 of 20 scheduled events with an estimated 2,000 athletes

Olympic trials for the 1964 Olympiad to participating. They will be conducted at the Fair grounds and sports sites throughout the city with one event held in nearby Nassau County. Mayor Wagner and Mr. Moses, characterizing the Olympic games as "one of mankind's great efforts to forward the understanding between nations," emphasized their pleasure in having the tryouts "join with us in our own Olympics of Progress poses of peace through understanding." Mayor Wagner and Mr. Moses said in a joint statement: "It is a great pleasure to announce that the United States Olympic Committee has accepted the joint invitation of the City of New York and the New York 1964-1965 World's Fair to hold the official Olympic tryouts in New York City during the spring and summer of 1964 for the Olympic games to be held later that

The availability of Flushing Meadow

Park, site of the Fair, for some of these events, together with the many other first-year in Tokyo, Japan.

dial welcome."

at the New York World's Fair in 1964 to emphasize and reinforce our parallel pur-class facilities in the New York area, makes the City by far the most appropriate location for the tryouts. Visitors from every state in the Union and from nations throughout the world will have an opportunity to witness the competition of our own athletes as well as to view the outstanding World's Fair expositions of culture, education, science and industry. To these young men and women athletes whose finest efforts will determine the composition of our teams in Japan, the City of New York and the New York

1964-1965 World's Fair extend their corneth L. Wilson, President of the United

In accepting the joint invitation, Ken-

States Olympic Committee, thanked the Mayor and Mr. Moses for the opportunity to hold tryouts in one central area. •

Recent Distinguished Visitors At World's Fair

M. Chebil of Tunisia signing agreement of participation with Governor Charles Poletti, vice president of the International Division.

A recent visitor to the Fair was Ben Wells,

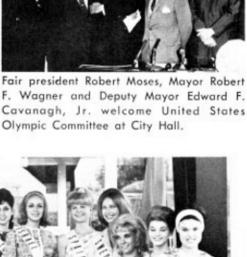

(right) vice president-sales and advertising, the Seven-Up Company, With Mr. Wells is Ted Jardine, vice president of the J. Walter Thompson Co.

Delegation of the Union Africaine et Malagache in front of the Fair Administration Buildina during visit with Fair president Robert Moses, Governor Poletti and Lionel Harris.

41004

