

Bliss Creates Electronically Controlled Characters

At Bliss Displays in Long Island City, an employee adds the final touches to an electronically controlled pig — one of those appearing in the industry show's farm sequence.

In The Enjoyment of Electricity, the light-hearted musical show of the industry's 'Tower of Light' exhibit, three chickens sing about the joys which electricity has brought them. Above, one of the chickens is being assembled at Bliss Displays. Below, Uncle Ben's head begins to take shape in the Bliss shop. Several Uncle Bens were created, as he appears in nearly all of the sequences of The Enjoyment of Electricity.

